MOGĀ Head Chef

LEON QUEK

Leon Quek, a seasoned figure in Singapore's culinary scene, transitioned from IT to the culinary arts, igniting his passion in prestigious kitchens.

Now Head Chef at MOGĀ, Pullman Singapore Hill Street, Leon's career spans over a decade with stints at CUT by Wolfgang Puck, THE MAST[®] of Mozzarella & Co, and 1880. Known for his innovative menu development, he fuses traditional Japanese techniques with modern Western influences, spotlighting local flavours.

At MOGĀ, Leon aims to revolutionise Japanese cuisine in Singapore, crafting memorable, share-style dishes that reflect his deep respect for tradition and his creative spirit.

IZAKAYA CONCEPT

For Kiyoko, food was as much a part of her story as travel. Every meal carried comfort, connection, and a spark of discovery.

At MOGĀ, our menu takes inspiration from the Japanese izakaya, a place of ease and togetherness, reimagined with flavours from around the world. Familiar bites are given a Japanese touch, creating dishes that feel both nostalgic and new.

Here, every plate is crafted to be shared, savoured, and remembered - just like Kiyoko's journey.

The best things always come in pairs of course!

*My journey has always been guided by curiosity and respect for craft.
Inspired by the Japanese irakaya,
I strive to create food that is comforting, shareable, and pairs effortlessly with drinks.*

*At MOGĀ, we honour tradition
while reimagining global comfort flavours through a Japanese lens — dishes that feel familiar yet surprising, and memorable long after the last bite...*
