Why 1908 Cronulla?

At the turn of the XXth century, the Illawarra train line revived the remote seaside gem of Cronulla & put it on the map.

Surrounded by glittering waters & magnificent sand dunes, Cronulla started to attract settlers, beach lovers & Sydney-siders.

A Methodist church was erected circa 1908, where the restaurant now stands.

It went on to be the Shire Library in the Seventies, The Old Library Restaurant in 2010, & 1908 Cronulla Social Restaurant & Cocktail Bar nine years ago.

Impressed by the great bones of the building, the tall ceilings, exposed beams & original timber lining, award-winning interior designers Paul Hecker & Hamish Guthrie converted the church into its current incarnation, designing the space with a connection to both the seaside location & the original architecture, & adding new elements such as the impressive central bar. Working within the voluminous spaces, they created a sense of intimacy & gathering through creating a series of rooms within rooms & spaces within spaces.

Custom furniture pieces from Sibella Court, internationally known interior stylist, & a natural palette of oak, linen, white timber and blackened steel contribute to the relaxed & somewhat domestic space that is 1908.

The Food

Reflecting its proximity to the sea, 1908 Cronulla prides itself on coastal cuisines embracing the flavours of the ocean worldwide.

Influenced by ingredients and culinary traditions from the Mediterranean, Brazil, India, Thailand & Australia, our talented and creative team has composed a unique coastal cuisine with a focus on fresh, seasonal & local produce.

Experience wonderful service from the team, whilst enjoying our signature cocktails & tasting a unique contemporary cuisine!

1908 Cronulla Social Restaurant & Cocktail Bar is a stunning venue befitting all celebrations, whether modest or grand, from à-la-carte dining to private & corporate events of all sizes.

Winner of the 2019 Outstanding Restaurant of the Year Awards, 1908 Cronulla has become an icon of the Cronulla & Sutherland Shire community and strikes the perfect casual chic balance between enjoyment, elegance & celebration.
