Syrah

2017

Syrah 87% - Cargnan 10% - Mourvedre 3%

Wine of origin: Western Cape

Our premium house Syrah red wine resonates with the soul of its origin in the Tulbagh region of the Western Cape of South Africa, where the warmth of the African sun infuses each grape with a unique character. A gentle undercurrent of chocolate and hint of smoky meat add layers of complexity to this rich and complex wine. A symphony of flavors that will enhance every meal, much like The Tug Restaurant elevates every dining occasion. In each bottle, we encapsulate the very essence of The Tug Restaurant, warm, bold, and unique, best enjoyed one sip at a time.

Tasting notes

Complex aromas of blueberries, charcoal, violets and smokey bacon. Extraordinary balance between primary fruit aromas and mineral components gives the wine an inviting natural warmth and broodiness. Big supple tannins with a reigned in acidity will make this wine a pleasure to drink for the next 15 - 25 years.

Allow decanting to experience full development in your glass.

How it's made

This Syrah is grown on an arid scaly soil, that yields about two tons per hectare resulting in concentrated small berries with tons of flavour. The grapes are fermented in concrete open top tanks for about a month. After which the wine is transferred to third and fourth fill barrels to ensure the wines bright fruit integrity. The wine spend 16 months in barrel and is then bottled and stored for another year before release.

Wine blended for The Tug Restaurant by Winemakers Pauline Roux and Paul Jordaan

Biography of the Winemakers

Paul Jordaan & Pauline Roux, both winegrowers/oenologists present themselves as merchants and winemakers looking for grapes to make unique and exclusive wines.

Pauline, coming from Southern France, where vineyards dance in the sea breeze, and Paul, a native of Cape Town's sunny shores and drylands, traversed the globe in search of winemaking secrets.

Their paths converged in South Africa's Swartland region in 2016, where they found themselves enchanted by its abundant potential and vibrant community. In 2018, Paul and Pauline teamed up to establish Paulus Wine Co. "Making wine, for us, is a platform to tell the story of a place."

The wine is like the minutes of the meeting that took place the year before, where everything comes together. Now leading the wine project with their dedicated team, Paul & Pauline believe wine is more than just what's in the bottle—it's about stories, connections, and shared experiences.

"We deeply believe that the people, relationships, and shared values between growers and winemakers make a wine's story. It's about sharing, learning, experiencing, and living."

Wine is more than a drink—it's a story of laughter and love shared with friends, old and new. Here's to the adventure of Paulus Wine Co—a journey filled with discovery and, of course, plenty of sips along the way.

"The aim is to make wines that naturally balance both controllable and uncontrollable elements, showcasing the essence of a terroir where everything comes together in harmony."

- Paul Jordaan (South African) & Pauline Roux (French) - Winemakers

Crankshaft Syrah 2023

Wine of origin: Westen Cape

From the sun-drenched vineyards of Stellenbosch, our Syrah captures the essence of this variety. Imagine walking through a vineyard at dusk, the air filled with the scent of ripe blackberries and plums. Each sip reveals dark fruit flavours, accompanied by hints of pepper and spice. Whole stem fermentation (process of fermenting grapes together with their stems and is the original way of making wine) and aging in large foudres (large wooden vats) result in a smooth, balanced wine that reflects the timeless character of a Classic Syrah. Some of Burgundy's most famous estates use this technique to create their signature style

Winch Sauvignon Blanc 2025

Wine of origin: Wellington

Originating from Wellington, this Full Body Sauvignon Blanc is crafted from vineyards rooted in clay-rich soils, contributing to its fuller body and rounded palate. The region's warm climate ensures optimal ripeness, while cool nights preserve the wine's vibrant acidity. Fermented in a combination of concrete tanks and oak barrels, it strikes a balance between crispness and buttery notes. Expect a well-rounded palate with flavours of apple, pear, and a touch of citrus, creating a satisfying and harmonious experience. Winemakers find concrete helps produce a wine that is bright and fruity without the risk of introducing unwanted elements or a sterile taste. Concrete tanks are not uniform and contain thousands of air pockets allowing wine limited contact with oxygen and do not impart additional flavours allowing the grape to take centre stage. Greek and Roman winemakers used to ferment wine in ceramic amphorae 2,000 years ago.
